

The Wedding of Brett Mann & Maureen Mitchell

Long Itchington, Coventry - 17th April 2010

When a couple are both keen VW enthusiasts the only possible way to travel to the church is in a stretched VW Camper Van.. that is exactly how Maureen and Brett both arrived at Holy Trinity Church, Long Itchington for their wedding ceremony on the 17th April 2010.

Maureen looked fabulous in her Ronald Joyce designer gown from True Romantica in Kenilworth, attended by her two bridesmaids Lauren Burgoine and Nicola Mulhall who wore stunning dark blue dresses, a colour that was also reflected in the flowers and the brides fathers and pageboys cravats with their top hat and tails. The groom and best man Craig Taylor also wore top hat and tails, from Nigel James, but opted for cream waistcoats and cravats, the dominant colour of the brides flowers.

"Our Photographer, Jonathon, from Keylight Photography was fantastic" said Maureen, "we could not have asked for better, he just blended in and for most of the day we did not even know he was there, the result was a fabulous set of photographs, some we could not even remember him being there to take, a great surprise that made the final album so difficult to choose”.

The reception for 110 guests was held in a large Marquee at the rear of The Green Man, Itchington, this turned out to be a great choice, guests sat down to a 3 course silver service wedding breakfast, by Celebration Caterers of Solihull. “the food was fabulous” said Maureen, “the whole day went so smoothly it was quite unbelievable, I can not recommend Celebration enough, the quality of food and service was first class and they even bought their own kitchen”

The evening saw the arrival of more guests and a Pig roast from Warwickshire marquees, who also provided the marquee for the day. With dancing to a live band, celebrations continued into the early hours and everyone agreed it had been a superb occasion.

As for the honeymoon, you guessed it, the campervan came too, the happy couple embarked on a break to remember touring around the New Forest in the VW for the first time as MR & Mrs Mann.
